

Multi-sensor core logging

With NSF funding, the LRC has recently (March 2004) acquired a new Geotek Multi-Sensor Core Logger (MSCL) with tremendous capabilities for logging and imaging both whole and split cores. Protocols for this instrument will be added to this page as they are standardized and developed; for the time being, the company's site provides an excellent summary:

<http://www.geotek.co.uk/site/scripts/module.php?webSubSectionID=26>